

Democracy emergency Italy

17 of January 2022

Good morning,
my name is Matteo Gracis, I am an independent journalist.

This video is a complaint about the serious situation in Italy today.

In our country democracy has been compromised and many of us are afraid that it can not be restored anymore, in the name of an endless and questionable emergency.

On February 2021 Mario Draghi settled in as Prime Minister. He is an economist and a bank manager director, former man of Goldman Sachs, former president of BCE (European Central Bank) and currently member of "Group of Thirty", as well as one of the main responsible for the economic and social breakdown of Greece on 2015.

Since his settlement, Draghi's government has already used 35 times the vote of confidence, a way that allows the majority to approve laws and decrees without the authorization of Parliament. The trust prevents any discussion and modification of texts.

The opposition - already almost non-existent - it now has no sense of existing such as the opinion inside the different political groups: we are in front of an one only big party which lead Italy completely ignoring the willing and needs of the italian citizens.

Minorities, which democracy should still respect and protect, are literally persecuted today in Italy.

There are so many articles in the Italian Constitution that this government is openly violating: from article 4 which recognizes to all Italian citizens the right to work. Article n.13 which declares that inviolability of personal freedom. And also article 21 which defends the freedom of speech and think or articles 24 sanctions we all can act in court for protection of our right. It has ever been compromised and limited the right to manifest. In this country there is no more space for whom are not aligned to the directions of the authority. But this is a typical feature of dictatorial regimes, sure not of the modern democracies.

The press conference announced by the Prime Minister Mario Draghi, are full of fake news and falsehood: among the most popular, the declaration "You don't get vaccine, you get sick, you die" released on July 2021 or that in which he promises to the citizens a quick come back to "normality" thanks to the Green Pass. As well as the peace of mind not to be infected or to infect people who has had the vaccination, in October 2021. Declarations, who no one dare to deny or correct. And also the few and less questions which are posed by journalists, are left with no answers

Meanwhile the government approves laws that suits few and disadvantage the community, such as the abolition of the limit of max salary of public senior executives or the privatization of water mad on purpose in the night to avoid confrontation with the interested parties.

Italy, since march 2020, is one of the countries in the world which has suffered more limitations of the personal freedom due to the Covid-19. At the same time, the 90,57% of the population over 12, has been vaccinated at least with one dose or has healed from it, in the last 6 months. So "it should be" (according to the lead of the authority) immunized.

Nevertheless on 15th December 2021 (date that signed 9,48% ICU patients according to the official estimate), the government has approved again the state of emergency, until 31 March 2022.

At the same time it has been introduced the "super green pass", a pass necessary to work, to use public transports, to go to restaurants or to play agonistic sports, making it mandatory (without taking the responsibility on any adverse reaction) vaccine is a health treatment still in experimental phase and, in light of the facts, from dubious effectiveness.

A way to discriminate million of Italians citizens.

Despite the institutions have reiterated several times how all this has been used to cope the health emergency Sars-Cov-2, in these 24 months, none hospitals has been enhanced by increasing the beds in intensive care or support the home care assistance. Which could have contributed to relieve hospital pressure. At the contrary the home care cures have been hindered and there are have been cuts to the public health.

In all of this, Italian journalism is dead and it has been replaced in a propaganda. The main stream just report the government's declarations, they have become their press office, they never investigated or never asked further information. Comparisons no more exists or debates, there are no critical voices to dissent. Try to imagine how distorted could be the real perception of citizens. If outside there's the sun but TV says it's raining, everyone is going out with an open umbrella. And that's happening since 2 years. Meanwhile the public money have been allocated to specific funds to the press for institutional communications.

Trying to stop this sore, in the past spring in 2021 my colleague and me founded a new online magazine called "L'Indipendente", without advertising or connections with politicians. For us, this is the only way to offer informations without conflicts of interest. In order to have real informations and news about our country, I invite you to connect with us: www.lindipendente.online.

The real emergency in Italy isn't about health but policies, because we are drifting away from the real democracy getting closer "a polite dictatorship". Soon there will be a social and economic emergency: we are in a country which is going to collapse, a lot, hundreds of thousands of small businesses are going to close and where the social inequalities are more than ever under our eyes.

The President, Sergio Mattarella, who should be guarantor of the constitution, instead validates any delirium of the government and recently he has declared, at the end of his mandate, he will leave a "United Country", when is obvious that it has never been so divided.

The fault and responsibility of all this can not be given to a virus or a pandemic but at the management of Conte's governments, Draghi's governments and all their ministers.

We will stand and we will fight, for our right and our country.

Thank you for the attention,

Matteo Gracis
